Children's Mental Health Week

Dear Parents/Carers,

Children's Mental Health Week will take place from 6-12 February 2023.

This year's theme is "Let's Connect." The week is delivered by the children's mental health charity known as Place2Be. It aims to raise awareness of the importance of children and young people's mental health. 'Let's Connect' is about making meaningful connections, and for Children's Mental Health Week 2023, Place2Be is encouraging people to connect with others in healthy, rewarding and meaningful ways.

Your child will be taking part in a variety of activities throughout the week to get them thinking about the different connections in their life. They will be taking part in activities in all areas of the curriculum. Children will then also experience an assembly delivered by our incredible Wellbeing Warriors!

As parents and carers, you are an important role model to your child. How you connect with friends and family will influence your child, and how they develop their own friendships and relationships. For example, how you greet people and maintain friendships, but also how you forgive people or say sorry when you need to.

On the next page, you will find a poster attached with some simple ways you can connect with your child and help them to make meaningful connections.

Yours Sincerely

Mrs Atherton, Mrs Kirby and the wellbeing warriors
(Senior Mental Health Lead, Pupil wellbeing leader and our amazing pupils who have completed a wellbeing training course.)

Let's Connect

Connecting with Kindness

We have connections with people including our family and friends. These connections can give us so much and help us to grow into respectful and kind adults. The connections we make can also have a positive effect on other people. One of the best ways to make connections and to keep them healthy and strong is to show yourself and others kindness. Who can you show kindness to?

New Connections

We have connections with our family or the people who care for us. However, every day we have the opportunity to make new connections. We will meet new people at school, at clubs, after school activities or in the community. Making new connections can seem challenging sometimes but when we are confident and positive, we can make new friends and new relationships. Who can you talk to today to make a new connection?

Take Time to Think About Your Connections

Life can be busy and we can sometimes be too busy to stop and notice the relationships we have with other people. When we take the time to think about our relationships, we can develop a positive sense of self, feel cared for, valued and respected. We can also start to notice parts of relationships that may need some support or extra care.

Growing and Changing Connections

As we grow into adults we will have relationships that stay with us, these may be family or friends. These relationships are likely to change and develop over time. There might be times when these relationships are tricky, for example, when we have an argument with a brother or sister. Understanding that relationships change and develop is important, so we can change and develop with them. If you are finding any of your relationships difficult, or are finding it hard to make new relationships, then please speak to a trusted adult.
