

What should I already know?

- How to order events on a timeline.
- The difference between the past and present.
- That life was different in the past.

What am I going to learn?

The Great Fire of London was in September 1666.

The fire began in a bakery in Pudding Lane which was owned by Thomas Farrinor.

The fire spread quickly and lasted for five days.

Samuel Pepys wrote a diary which tells us about the events of the fire.

Christopher Wren helped to redesign and rebuild the city after the fire.
